Trade 2019 - Challenges & Trends in U.S. Trade Law

27th February, 2019 | 4 – 5pm

CRIT Conference Hall, 8th Floor, NAFED House, New Delhi

The United States has been by far the major proponent of Free Trade since the 1940s. However, in recent times, President Trump has adopted a unilateral trade policy where the US is seeking to disengage from multilateral and regional trade initiatives. The US has dropped out of the TPP and is currently formulating a substantially weakened RTA in North America.

This Talk will focus on the current approach to the US Trade Policy captured in the phrase, 'Free', 'Fair' and 'Reciprocal' trade; and its possible implications for the US and the global economy at large.
